

ZELAYA MAY BE WITHIN RIGHTS

If the Two Americans Slain Were Spies Their Execution Was Natural Outcome.

A TENSE SITUATION PREVAILS

United States is Investigating and if it is Found That Cannon and Grace Were Acting Openly Against Nicaragua That Government Will be Held Responsible.

Washington, Nov. 19.—A tense situation exists this morning as the result of the execution of the two Americans, Cannon and Grace, in Nicaragua. It is fairly assumed, if the press dispatches from Managua are accurate, that the men were executed after a court martial on the charge they had attempted by use of dynamite mines to blow up President Zelaya's troop transports. If the state department advises confirm this story the question at issue will be whether the charge against the men justified their execution. If it should appear that the Americans slipped within the lines under disguise when they planted mines they might be regarded as spies and so subjected to summary execution. But if engaged in their work openly it will probably be held they should have been treated as prisoners of war. In the latter case there is no doubt Zelaya will be called to account and ample reparation demanded.

Recalls Cuban Incidents.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The execution by order of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, of two Americans, Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon, condemned as insurrectionists, with resulting international complications, recalls the thrilling events of the ten-year war in Cuba when the Spanish government executed summarily General Ryan and a number of other Americans who were captured and charged with being filibusters. At that time American feeling was wrought to a high pitch of excitement and a number of American vessels were ordered to Cuban waters. An immediate outbreak of war between the United States and Spain was averted only through the prompt apology by Spain for the action of the Cuban captain-general and the payment of an indemnity to the families of the victims.

LOWELL, MASS., TO CELEBRATE HOME COMING OF ADMIRAL.

Rear Admiral John E. Pillsbury, Lowell, Mass., Nov. 18.—This city is preparing to celebrate the home coming of Rear Admiral John E. Pillsbury on the anniversary of his birth, December 15. Recently he has been appointed a member of the Geographic society to determine whether or not the north pole was discovered prior to 1908. He is a graduate of the Naval academy and is known all over the world as an expert on matters of geography and science. He has served in various capacities, which include one year in the coast survey service. He won fame while investigating gulf stream currents and observing the current with an instrument of his own invention. He established the position of the axis of the stream in the straits of Florida and off Cape Hatteras and determined many of the laws by which its flow is governed.

APPLES YIELDING FORTUNES.

Demand for Michigan Fruit is Great Boost for Orchards.

Holland, Mich., Nov. 19.—Western Michigan nursery men report an unprecedented sale of young apple trees and indications point to the fact that the immediate future will witness a large and steady development of commercial apple-raising in the famous fruit-belt, extending through several counties. Fenoville orchards this year netted their owners nearly $300,000 and produced a crop of apples variously estimated from 75,000 to 100,000 barrels. Most of the crop was sold on the trees. Orchards which formerly sold for a song are now valued at fabulous prices and are yielding their owners in many instances $500 per acre and upwards. It is reported on good authority that one orchard of 80 acres in Allegan county was recently sold for $20,000 and the purchaser expects to double his money within the next five years.

WIFE DIES; MONEY GONE.

Syrian Peddler From Upper Michigan Has Sad Home-Coming.

Cleveland, Nov. 19.—William Bailly, Syrian peddler of lace, returned to Cleveland Sunday from upper Michigan, to find his wife, Salina, dead, and his life's savings stolen from the body. The woman's death was from natural causes.

Neighbors were arrested on Bailly's complaint, but were discharged for lack of evidence. With the earnings from his Michigan trip Bailly will return to Syria alone.

CALUMET BOY VICTIM OF HUNTING ACCIDENT

Youth Named Sphear Meets Death in Sad Accident Near Phoenix—Gun is Accidentally Discharged and Victim Receives Terrible Wound—Inquest is Conducted.

The first fatal hunting accident of the season in the copper country and one of the most deplorable in the upper peninsula, occurred near the Phoenix location yesterday afternoon, when Peter Sphear, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sphear of Calumet, was accidentally killed by a gun in his own hands. The young man had been hunting with his father and death resulted from the accidental discharge of the gun.

It appears that the boy and his father with one other companion were hunting together and that they separated on the deer trail, hunting in different directions. The boy climbed up on a stump for observation purposes and attempted to draw the gun up after him, grasping it by the barrel. In some manner the trigger became caught, and the weapon, which had been loaded with buckshot was discharged. He received a severe wound in the thigh, and the shot traveled upwards. The boy called his father, but the wound had been fatal, and before he could be summoned he passed away. The accident took place on the Schulte farm.

W. E. Smith of Mohawk held an inquest this morning, and after hearing the testimony, a verdict of accidental death was returned. The jurors were: John Shields, Henry Peterman, Fabian Yando, Nick Lenten, Theodore Knechtges and John Blomdon.

The remains of the unfortunate youth were brought to Calumet at noon today. The funeral will probably be held on Sunday afternoon, with services at the St. Joseph's church of Calumet and interment in Lake View.

ROWETT GRANTS MATCH.

Will Defend His Title Against Stoll of Calumet Soon.

A letter was received today from Jack Rowett, the Bessemer game warden, who holds the Cornish wrestling championship of the country. Rowett expressed a willingness to meet Herman Stoll of Calumet, a challenger, and named Dec. 18 as the most suitable date for the bout. The conditions of the match are that the winner secure two out of three falls. Rowett is willing to have the event conducted at the Calumet theater and will wrestle for a division of a $300 purse.

Stoll is anxious to arrange this match and to try his ability against Rowett. The men have never met before, but have appeared in the same ring, and each has considerable respect for the skill of the other. Stoll and Rowett are evenly matched as to weight and their friends believe that they will put up a good contest.

Stoll is willing to accept Harrington's challenge, but prefers to meet Rowett first. If he is successful against Rowett, he will accommodate Harrington with an early date. Harrington and Stoll have met twice, each man securing one decision. Stoll won first prize over Harrington at a tournament in Laurium a few years ago, and the Butte man was given a decision over Stoll at a match in Houghton.

PICTURES OF BASEBALL.

Royal Theater Will Show Views of Championship Games.

The first pictures of the world's baseball series between the Detroit and Pittsburgh teams, champions of the American and National leagues respectively, have been secured by the Royal theater of Calumet and will be shown this evening. The pictures are very clear, and accurately depict every important play of the critical games of the series. "Close-up" pictures of Hans Wagner, Tyus Cobb, Tommy Leach, "Smiling Bill" Donovan, Fred Clarke and other stellar lights of both teams will be shown.

Another picture to be shown is the "Lie," a story in picture, of the Franco-Prussian war, which is brilliantly dramatic. The "Gibson Goddess," a comedy film, and "What's Your Hurry?" are also included in the program for this evening. The program of the Royal is changed every day.

HOTEL CLERKS' TROUBLES.

If there is any class of men in the world who are entitled to qualify as handwriting experts it is hotel clerks. The high priests of the register and inkstand certainly be admitted to the witness stand without question by any judge in the land. And their testimony regarding a forged signature would doubtless be as accurate as that of the high priced experts who now stand the withering fire of the hypothetical question.

For so many moons has the hotel clerk been the target for the shafts of every near humorist in the country that the public has gained the idea that he is in the same class with the trust magnates, a creature whose whole life is one untroubled, haughty round of bonhomie.

But he does have his little vexations, as the clerk of any of the local hotels can tell. In at the front door comes a guest, who from his sartorial layout appears to be good for the best room in the house and from a quarter up in tips.

There is a mad rush of bellboys and porters. His grip, his hat, his cane, his coat, are snatched from him by willing hands.

When he reaches the desk the clerk is there with the urbane manner also. It is part of a clerk's business to know each guest by name and the way he generally does this is to wait till the man registers reads the name and then remark, "We'll send your things up right away, Mr. Smith." This leads the guest to think that he is well known and it makes him feel good.

But when the prosperous appearing one arrives with his galaxy of attendants, and registers, the clerk attempting his usual coup is dismayed to find that the name has been written so illegibly that he cannot read it. He must know the name in order to enter it on the books and he cannot ask because the guest may be sensitive regarding his handwriting. It is then that he must do some tall studying.

A German supper will be given by the ladies of the German Reformed church on Depot street, Hecla, on December 1 and 2. A bazaar will be conducted in connection with the event.

Republicans in upper New York state are advocating the claims of Supreme Court Justice Frank H. Hiscock of Syracuse, of the Court of Appeals of the state and United States Circuit Court Judge Albert Cleveland Cox of Utica, to be appointed as the successor of the late Rufus W. Peckham of the Supreme Court of the United States.

NEW EPOCH FOR INDIA.

British Administration Reform Plan Goes Into Effect.

Simla, British India, Nov. 19.—The plan for the reform of the British administration of India, which was outlined by Lord Morley, Secretary of State for India, in the House of Lords last December, and which is designed to give India an embryo constitution, admitting the natives to an important share in the legislation of the country, came into effect today. Thus begins a new and striking epoch in the history of British rule in India. For more than three years the Imperial Government and the Indian administration have wrestled with the details of the plan recently adopted.

Under the program adopted all religions and special interests may elect representatives to the Viceroy's and provincial councils, but in view of recent anarchistic outbreaks, a safeguard is provided in a qualification which empowers the Imperial and provincial governments to declare ineligible those persons whose election is considered contrary to public interest.

The Viceroy's council in the future will have 370 members instead of 120 as formerly, of whom a total of 135 will be elected, as against 29 elected heretofore. The functions of the council will be considerably enlarged, and it will be enabled to take an active part in the making of the budget and all legislation. The new council will assemble in January.

BALLOONIST TO FLY OVER OCEAN

Joseph Brucker to Sail in Airship from Spain to America.

New York, Nov. 19.—Joseph Brucker, whose project for crossing the Atlantic ocean in a dirigible balloon attracted some attention last spring, now makes the announcement, from Berlin, that the trial will be made within the next six months.

In a letter to the Aero Club of America, Mr. Brucker states that Dr. Gaus, president of the Automobile Club of Munich, is backing the enterprise and that a large dirigible balloon is being built. He suggests that the Aero Club of America offer a prize for the first aeronaut to make the trans-Atlantic trip. It is Mr. Brucker's plan to follow the course taken by Columbus.

Mr. Brucker went to Germany last July to procure aid for his undertaking. He announces that Count Zeppelin and several foremost aeronauts consider his project feasible. The trans-Atlantic air craft will carry three or four men and be equipped with lifeboats and other safety devices. It will be followed by speedy gunboats or other craft.

NO ACTION ON FINANCE BILL

Not Likely Coming Session of Congress Will Take up Financial Matters.

COMMISSION NOT YET READY

Body, of Which Senator Aldrich is Chairman, Does Not Yet Know Just How to Proceed to Improve Financial Legislation—No Report Until Next Session is Nearly Over.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Much interest is manifested in the meeting here tomorrow of the National Monetary commission. Speculation is rife as to what recommendations the commission may make and also as to what may be decided upon in regard to financial legislation at the coming session of congress.

The general impression here is that there will be no attempt at financial legislation at the coming session. This impression is confirmed by the several recent speeches of Senator Aldrich, chairman of the commission, in which he has said that if called upon to frame national currency legislation at this time he would not know how to proceed. Other members of the commission have expressed themselves to the same effect.

Granting this to be true, it is nevertheless reasonable to suppose that the commission will be influenced to a considerable extent by the views of three of its leading members—Senator Aldrich, who is generally supposed to favor the central bank plan; Representative Vreeland of New York, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, who, through a speech made not long ago, stands committed to the central bank plan, and Senator Burton of Ohio, who, to a certain extent, is believed to hold the same views.

It is believed here that the results of Senator Aldrich's recent trip in the west will have a great deal to do with the time of filing the report of the monetary commission and the subsequent activities of congress in the matter. The Rhode Island senator undertakes the trip with the idea of ascertaining, at first hand, the drift of sentiment in the middle west toward a plan of currency legislation and with particular reference to the central bank idea.

It is now considered probable that the monetary commission will not make its report until the next session of congress is nearly over, which would make the enactment of legislation impossible—except by extra session—until the ensuing short session. There is no prophet who will venture to suggest whether or not a special session of congress will be called to deal with the question, which is more important and even more vexing, its ramifications with the tariff, inasmuch as there is ordinarily little time for night save the regular money bills at a short session of the national legislature; but it seems to be certain that there will be nothing doing in the near future. Furthermore it is understood to be the purpose of the minority members of the commission, including Senators Bailey and Money, who are hostile to the establishment of a central bank, to oppose any effort on the part of Senator Aldrich to force action on the currency question this winter.

PRESIDENT IN NORFOLK.

Taft Will Address the Deep Waterways Convention There.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 19.—Norfolk observed a general holiday today in honor of the visit of President Taft, who came down from Washington for the purpose of addressing the deep waterways convention in session here. The city was profusely decorated and the crowd of visitors unusually large. While the President's address was the event of the day, there were numerous other interesting features on the program. One of these was a big parade of United States soldiers, sailors and marines, which was reviewed by the President and other dignitaries. After reviewing the parade and delivering his address before the convention, President Taft, with other invited guests, was tendered a typical oyster roast at Cape Henry.

MOVE AGAINST BREWERIES.

Question Raised Whether Pennsylvania Concerns Can Give Up. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—Whether or not the big breweries in Pittsburgh and other sections of western Pennsylvania shall be allowed to increase their liquor traffic by giving ice away to favored customers, or by selling it at low rates, is to be determined by the quo warranto proceedings which came up for hearing today before Attorney General J. Hampton Todd. The suits are the outgrowth of a decision rendered a short time ago by Deputy Attorney General Cunningham, in which he held that breweries cannot sell, or otherwise dispose of any surplus ice, although they can, of course, manufacture it for their own use. Just who is behind the new suits is not known, but it is generally supposed to be a move on the part of the temperance forces to further restrain the liquor traffic.

PLANS JOURNALISTIC COURSE.

University of Wisconsin Takes Steps to Develop Department.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—The University of Wisconsin is completing a plan for including in its curriculum a course of journalism to be placed in the same rank as the law and medicine departments of the institution. The first practical advance toward this point is noted in the November issue of the alumni magazine of the university, which contains various articles said to be acceptable to newspapers and magazines, pertaining to recent scientific discoveries, personal news of the students and faculty, and several semi-literary stories. These articles were prepared by various students of the university under direction of Professor Louis P. Lochner, who is acting as editor of this department. Dr. A. J. Ochsner, president of the alumni, with the co-operation of the faculty and Professor Lochner, intends to develop the journalistic course until it shall teach details of preparing news, printing the newspaper and providing arrangements for advertising and business management.

BIG CROWD TO SEE YALE-HARVARD GAME

Large Delegations Are Pouring Into Boston to be on Hand for Championship Contest to be Played Tomorrow—Eli is Favorite Although There is Much Harvard Money.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 19.—Boston is the gathering place today of members of the social sets from almost every city throughout the land, who have come for the great annual gridiron contest at the Stadium tomorrow between Yale and Harvard. The blue of Yale and the crimson of Harvard are to be seen on all sides and if other evidence were lacking that something of importance is about to take place it needs only a glance into the corridors of any of the prominent hotels to see the scenes of animation. The demand for tickets is almost unprecedented and the prediction is made that the contest will be attended by the largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in America. The indications are that much money will change hands on the result of the game. While Yale rules a favorite because of her clean record of victories for the season, there is an abundance of Harvard money in sight and every dollar offered on the Harvard end.

WHITEWASH THE COAL.

Railroads Use This Means to Prevent Theft From Cars.

A Milwaukee dispatch says: Several of those Milwaukee flats who do not live in steam-heated flats and who have to lay in their own winter supplies of coal, have noticed that many of the lumps this year are coated with whitewash.

This has set them to wondering what was the reason for the unique decoration. Although the whitewash may be considered to have improved the appearance of the black diamonds, coal beautiful was not the object in view.

One morbidly curious slave of the furnace couldn't sleep until he found out why his coal was whitewashed, so he jumped to a telephone and called up the coal dealer, who gave this explanation: "The whitewash is done by the railroads, to prevent wholesale robbery from coal cars. Coal thieves have annoyed the railroads for years and years, stealing thousands of tons of fuel annually. As the great carloads of forty or more tons apiece are being carried from the mines in Pennsylvania, Ohio and wherever anthracite is mined, it is very easy for unscrupulous persons to remove a ton or two from a car without causing any noticeable change in the appearance of the load. It is only when the car again is put on the scales that the shortage is detected, and then, as a rule, it is too late to trace the guilty persons.

So the railroad men have adopted the whitewash method to check depredations and safeguard their freight. After a car of coal has been loaded at the mines a solution of lime and water is sprayed over the coal, and when the water has evaporated a white coating of lime remains on the top layer of lumps. If any of the coal then is removed it leaves a black patch upon the white surface. Thus the inspectors and station agents 'get on' to a robbery immediately, and are able to search for the thief before the car leaves the scene of the theft. As a rule the offender is quite easily traced."

John Naestrom of Calumet has resigned as secretary of the Swedish Sons of America and the resignation has been accepted. He is succeeded by G. A. Nelson of Marquette.

SADDEST ACT OF MINE DISASTER

Work of Identifying Dead Miners at Cherry, Ill., is Now Under Way.

SCENE A HEARTRENDING ONE

Grief Stricken Men, Women and Children Form Circle About Bodies Brought Up and Many Spectators Turn Away Unable to Endure the Sobs and Cries of Mourners.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 19.—The second and saddest act of the mine tragedy, the recovery and attempted identification of the dead, began today. Besides the bodies recovered fifty or seventy-five others beyond reach for the time being, because of the fire, were seen by the fire fighters in the smouldering fire beyond.

Three bodies, the first recovered through the main shaft, were brought to surface at 8 o'clock. A pile of others were in sight but passage to them is hampered by fire. Four other bodies were brought up on the next trip of the cage, one of them a boy. An ambulance, guarded by militiamen, was followed by crowds to the town hall which has been turned into a temporary morgue. Here a score of women sought to identify the dead as their own, but the condition of the bodies made this difficult.

Grief stricken men, women and children formed a great circle about the bodies brought up, and many turned away, unable to endure the sobs and cries of those who mourned, seeking their dead. Only two bodies so far have been identified, Dicky Buckles, a stable boy, and Louis Gibbs.

CHANGE CHURCH ASSEMBLY.

Detroit Presbytery Recommends Smaller Body and Triennial Meetings.

In sending a reply yesterday to certain recommendations of the Presbyterian general assembly, Detroit Presbytery suggested that the general assembly be made triennial and that the composition of the executive commission of the denomination be changed, and that body given power to transact certain business which now necessitates the calling together of the general assembly each year, says the Detroit Free Press.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Dr. W. T. Jaquess, who, at a former meeting of the Presbytery, had been appointed to formulate an answer to a communication from the committee on overtures of the general assembly. In adopting the report the presbytery went on record as favoring a reduction in the size of the present general assembly and a change in the basis of representation.

At present commissioners are chosen on the basis of the number of ministers in a presbytery. Detroit Presbytery believes that the basis should be the number of ministers and laymen because this change would do away with over-representation from presbyteries with a large number of retired clergymen on their rolls.

The communication adds, however, that had Detroit Presbytery been unrestrained in its choice, it would have declared for no reduction in the size of the general assembly, with a provision that the body meet once in three years. Also that the executive commission consist of one member from each state synod, to be elected by the moderator of the general assembly, not necessarily with regard to territorial distribution.

The suggested extension of the commission's powers, caused some discussion because one or two saw in it a tendency toward a commission form of government for the denomination. The presbytery also proposed a system of overtures and replies that would bring the executive commission in closer touch with the presbyteries and give the latter a stronger voice in the government of the church.

C. & H. EMPLOYE IS HURT.

Frank Adda sustained a bad scalp wound this morning while at work in the 89th level of the Red Jacket branch of the C. & H. mine. The unfortunate man was taken to surface and treated at the C. & H. hospital. Adda was engaged in knocking out a heaving log when a piece of rock fell from the top of the pole, striking him on the head and inflicting the injuries.
